

The Atlantic Salmon Trust Auction 2017

The annual auction is the AST's principal fund raising event. Without your support we wouldn't be able to continue our important work to secure the future of Atlantic salmon and sea trout. Money from the auction will be spent on research into the whole lives of wild atlantic salmon & sea trout in fresh water and at sea. For further details visit our main website www.atlanticsalmontrust.org.

We hope you will find this year's auction better and, now we are once more wholly online, easier than ever to bid on your dream lot and 'Live the Dream!'.

The Atlantic Salmon Trust Auction 2017

Help and Guidance

Please note that this year's auction is once again being conducted wholly online. Visit <http://auction.atlanticsalmontrust.org> for full details.

Bidding on an Auction Lot

The Atlantic Salmon Trust (AST) Fishing Auction is similar in operation to other popular online auction sites.

Registered users (see below) enter their maximum bid on a lot. All bids are anonymous.

The winning bid will be that which is £1 higher than the next highest bid (or equal to the starting price if there is only one bid).

Example:

- » An auction lot has a starting price of £100.
- » User 1 enters a maximum bid of £200 on the lot. The winning bid is £100 from User 1
- » User 2 then enters a maximum bid of £150. The winning bid is now £151 - still from User 1
- » User 3 then enters a maximum bid of £250. The winning bid is now £201 - now from User 3.

The winner will be the current winning bid when the auction ends.

Users will receive notifications via email when they bid or if they are outbid.

Users can increase their maximum bid at any time - even if they are the current winning bidder.

Registration

Users must register their details before bidding. Users of previous auctions will be able to use their existing account.

The AST will never disclose their details to other parties.

Users are asked to enter their name, email and phone number at registration. They must also choose a password in order to access the system.

Registration details are sent via email to the user along with a confirmation code - which must be processed before the user can start bidding.

Bidding Offline

Users who prefer not to engage in online bidding can contact The AST and request a printed copy of the auction catalogue along with details of how they can bid offline.

Offline bids will be entered anonymously into the auction by AST administrators.

Winning & Paying for an Auction Lot

Auction lot winners will be contacted via email when their winning lot's auction closes. Details will be given on payment and how to contact the donor of their winning auction lot to make arrangements.

Terms & Conditions

The AST is a charity. We expect all bids to be honoured.

Lots in the auction have been generously given by donors. They may not be resold or awarded as prizes in competitions without the permission of the donor and The AST.

Where dates for a lot are specified, this is done to fit in with other commitments. Please do not ask for changes!

Successful bidders are reminded that an Environment Agency Licence is required before fishing in England or Wales.
